

Having spent an inordinate amount of years looking at things through a variety of glass cylinders, David Cherry (video documentation/teaser) believes that he has finally developed a deeper understanding of the rhythm of the spectral world. There is great meaning in movement or non-movement, everything threaded together in pretty, little patterns like the warm fabric of a quilt that covers a loved one on a long winter's night.